3-year legal practice mandatory for judicial service

Chennai, May 20: The Supreme Court has ruled that candidates aspiring to become civil judges (junior division) must have a minimum of three years of legal practice. A Bench led by CJI BR Gavai directed all States to amend their recruitment rules accordingly. The experience must be certified by a senior advocate with at least 10 years at the Bar, and time served as a law clerk will also count.

The Court clarified that the new rule will apply prospectively and not to ongoing recruitment. It also emphasized that judicial roles require practical courtroom experience, not just theoretical knowledge. The three-year practice period will be counted from the date of provisional Bar enrollment.
